

Project READ Literacy Network Waterloo-Wellington

Organizational Logic Model

February 2009

PRLN Programs & Services:

Knowledge Building

- Research & Development
- Service System Planning
- Resource Library
- Professional Development

Knowledge Exchange

- Networking
- Outreach
- Agency Support
- Information & Referral

Skills Identification & Development

- Literacy & Essential Skills Assessments
- Family Literacy
- Workplace/Workforce Literacy
- Clear Language

Immediate Outcomes:

- Our organization's capacity to support LBS delivery agencies is increased
- Resource development contributes to an increase in continuous improvement among our member organizations and the field of literacy
- Improved service coordination among LBS delivery agencies
- Literacy and essential skills practitioners are more knowledgeable and better equipped to meet the needs of adult literacy learners

- Opportunities for communication and collaboration are increased
- Awareness of and access to literacy and essential skills resources for targeted sectors and key groups is increased
- Support organization's capacity to support LBS delivery agencies is increased
- Access to information allows community members to increase their knowledge about literacy and essential skills training

- Program participant's awareness of their literacy and essential skills is increased
- Programs are designed and delivered to meet the needs of citizens and/or employers
- Skills assessment allows potential learners to make well informed decisions about learning opportunities

Intermediate Outcomes

- A comprehensive literacy and essential skills network built and strengthened
- Partnerships and collaborations are actively supported and promoted
- Literacy and essential skills are major issues at other community planning tables
- Increases in the number of learners contacting literacy and essential skills agencies

Long-term Impact Outcomes

- More literate Waterloo-Wellington
- More dynamic and collaborative education and training system
- Literacy and essential skills for the workplace/workforce, home and community is an issue of broad concern for the whole community

Mission Statement

Project READ Literacy Network is a dynamic community collaboration promoting the growth of literacy and essential skills in Waterloo-Wellington.